THE JOSSELYN CENTER

Since 1951, The Josselyn Center has been providing quality comprehensive outpatient mental health services and supportive programs for individuals who live, work or attend school in Chicago's northern suburbs.

Fees for all of our services and programs are based on a sliding fee scale.

Last year 2,250 individuals of all ages received clinical services. During this same period we also provided educational workshops and seminars for more than 7,200 professionals and members of the general community.

Our range of clinical services includes individual, couple, family and group therapy; psychiatric care and medication monitoring; outreach services; and specialized care for those with chronic mental illness. The Josselyn Center also offers therapeutic support groups for children and adolescents, adults and families, as well as crisis intervention services.

In addition, The Josselyn Center also offers the CLR Drop-In Center for adults, Camp Neeka for children, and our Foundations for Wellness program for school aged children.
